Dean Koerble Announces Summer Parking Rules

Dean Koerble announced these parking regulations that are in effect: No parking permits are necessary during the summer session. However drivers of cars are still responsible for parking their vehicles properly. No cars may be parked on roadways anywhere on the campus unless markings are painted on the road to indicate such parking areas; no car may be driven over curbs or grassed areas; nor are they to be parked except between diagonal lines which clearly indicate parking stalls.

The parking area in front of the Women's dormitories is for unloading purposes only and is not to be used by students going to classes.

Parking Tickets

Parking tickets are to be paid in the Business office within 48 hours after being received. If there is any question about the validity of a parking ticket, check with the Dean of Students. Parking fines at $1.00 per ticket are official college debts and the students will be held liable for such amounts. License numbers will be checked in the traffic bureau in the state in which the automobile is registered. Drivers who are traced in this manner will have the parking penalty placed against their records in the Business office. Transcripts and grades will then be withheld until the matter is taken care of.

According to Dean Koerble, "If the parking lot is full, use another one. Remember President Kennedy's physical fitness program. Since students are not charged a parking fee during the summer, their co-operation and consideration will be appreciated."

L. G. Bladts Resign From MSC Faculty

The resignations of Luther G. Bladt of the department of English and speech, and Mrs. Martha V. Bladt, dean of women, have been accepted by the Board of Regents of Northwest Missouri State College. Both resignations are effective June 30, 1963.

Appointment approved by the board include Miss Alice A. Kauffman as assistant professor in the department of home economics and Miss JoAnn Schramper as instructor in the department of social science.

Miss Kauffman has an MS degree from Iowa State University and 10 years of college teaching experience at Morehead State College, Kentucky; University of Kansas City; Central Missouri State College; and the University of Akron. She will manage the home management house on campus of NWMSC.

Miss Schramper has a BS degree from Iowa State University and a MS degree from the University of Chicago.

"NAME, RANK, AND IBM NUMBER, PLEASE," will be the motto for NWMSC collegians next fall according to Business Manager, Luther Belcher. The identification card as shown here by Mr. Belcher, will be issued at registration for the fall semester.

MSC Grad of '63 Takes FDIC Trainee Position

James O. Leese, Bolckow, a May graduate of NWMSC, has accepted a position of bank examiner (trainee assistant) for the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation in the Sixth District.

Air Conditioning Now Operating In Union Building

The cool oasis amid the sweltering heat at Northwest Missouri State College is the newly air-conditioned J. W. Jones Union Building. This building which houses the cafeteria, lounge, and the den is totally air-conditioned for the first summer of its existence.

The air-conditioning proposal has been in the planning stage for three or four years, according to Dr. J. W. Jones, President of the college. The measure was formally approved by the Housing Home Finance Association in Fort Worth, Tex., over a year ago. Began in '62

Work began on the installation of the air-conditioning unit by the Heating and Plumbing Co., of Kansas City in the early spring of 1962. The $147,000 unit was completed in the late fall of 1962 and placed into operation in the spring of this year.

The air-conditioning unit consists of a main unit on the roof of the new addition and six to seven sub-stations located throughout the building.

Both students and faculty must admit that the cool, dehumidified Union Building is a refreshing asset to the college.

Dr. Grube Lists Reunion a Success

Dr. Frank Grube, chairman of the MSC English department, attended his college class reunion June 14-16, at Pere Marquette State Park, Grafton, Ill. Dr. Grube termed the 35 year reunion of the Shurtleff College class of 1928 a success, as nearly two-thirds of the class was present. There were also a number of persons present from the classes of 1927 and 1929.

June 1-3, Dr. Grube attended the commencement exercises and alumni meeting at Iowa Wesleyan College, Mt. Pleasant, Ia. He talked with many students he had taught 25 years ago when he was on the Iowa Wesleyan faculty.

Three Workshops List 46 Graduate Students

There are 46 graduate students enrolled in three workshops which began June 17 at Northwest Missouri State College. Six enrolled in the workshop in general speech and forensics for the secondary teacher and 20 enrolled in the workshop in methods of teaching mentally handicapped children, both of which conclude June 28 and gain two semester hours for the enrollees.

Twenty persons also enrolled in the introduction to mod-which began June 17 and concludes July 3. This workshop is worth three semester hours credit.

Robert Arms Gets Degree, Accepts Engineering Post

Robert Arms, graduate of NWMSC and the Missouri School of Mines and Metallurgy, Rolla, has accepted a position as an engineer for the city of Fort Worth, Tex., working in the water department.

Arms and Miss Karan Porter, were married June 2 and are now residing in Fort Worth.

Miss Larsen Heads Girls Dorm Council

Donna Rae Larsen, Irwin, Ia., was elected chairman of the Roberta Hall Dorm Council for the summer session in an election held June 7.

Others elected to represent the dorm residents were Carol Thomas, Sharon Smith, Inella Kerber, Mrs. Day, Kathy Miller, and Mary Frances Olson. Mrs. Helen Larsen will serve as faculty adviser.

At the first council meeting the council decided to have a party July 15, honoring the senior girls. The party will begin with a short program featuring a speech by Mrs. Larsen. Following the talk by the housemother, each graduating senior will be presented a silver spoon. Refreshments will be served in the lounge.

Committees that have been set up for the party are headed by the following people: Kathy Miller, refreshments; Carol Thomas, program; Mary Frances Olson, gifts.

"Cyndy" Dalbey Wins Title Of Miss SW Iowa

Cynthia Dalbey, 18-year old freshman at Northwest State, was crowned Miss Southwest Iowa of 1964 at a beauty pageant held at Clarinda, Ia., June 15.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Wendell Dalbey, Shenandoah, Ia., Cynthia was selected from a field of 14 contestants seeking a chance to represent Southwest Iowa in the Miss Iowa contest in July.

Earlier this month "Cyndy" was judged second runner-up in the Miss Northwest Missouri contest which sent a representative to the Miss Missouri pageant.

A drama-speech major at MSC, Miss Dalbey gave a humorous reading, "I Like Men, as her talent sketch. She plans to further her education at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ind.

To the winner of the contest went a full year scholarship to Clarinda Community College, a formal, crown, trophy and bouquet. The Miss Iowa contest will be held at Clear Lake the week of July 25.

The red-headed Miss Dalbey, daughter of the Fremont County extension director, has vital statistics of 35-24-36.

Last summer she toured Europe with the United States of America High School Band. Among her awards are the John Phillip Sousa music award and the Helen Hayes acting award.

College Coed Directs First Tennis Program

Sally Kampe, a Northwest State College coed, is teaching tennis to Maryville children this summer as a part of the city recreation program.

The program, which will run from June 19 to July 25, is open to any boy between the ages of 10 and 14, or to any girl between 10 and 18. This is the first year that tennis has been offered as a part of the program.

THE COLLEGE OATH

"We will never bring disgrace to this, our College, by any act of cowardice or dishonesty. We will fight for the ideals and sacred things of the College. We will revere and obey the College laws and do our best to incite a like respect and reverence in others. We will transmit this College to those who come after us, greater, better, and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us."

Goldwater In '64?

NELSON ROCKEFELLER'S DIVORCE AND REMARRIAGE have thrown a monkey wrench into the 1964 Presidential race. B. H. (before Happy), Rockefeller was a sure bet to head the Republican slate against Kennedy, but since his marriage to the divorced mother of four, the political fortunes of New York's Governor have been rapidly declining.

With Rockefeller's swift fall from public favor has come a corresponding rise in the fortunes of the other Republican Presidential hopefuls. George Romney of Michigan and William Scranton of Pennsylvania have both come to merit serious consideration in '64. The most significant rise in popularity, though, has been that of Barry Goldwater, U.S. Senator from Arizona and self-appointed spokesman for Conservatism.

KENNEDY vs. ROCKEFELLER WOULD PRESENT A VERY close contest. Each of the men is wealthy, personable, liberal, and is aware of the problems of administering a modern urban-industrial state. Each could promise more support for civil rights, more aid to education, continued support of labor, tax revision for business, and continued efforts to end the cold war. The election would be close, depending on who could swing the urban workers and the Negroes.

Kennedy vs. Goldwater would be a very different story. The contest would offer a definite liberal/conservative choice. Kennedy could propose a liberal platform of civil rights, aid to education, tax revision, labor support, etc. But what could Goldwater say?

To the working man: "Labor unions are robbing you of your rights as an individual, I'll knock them down to size."

To the farmer: "Federal subsidy programs are making you a slave to the National government. I'll eliminate them."

To the Negroes: "You are the object of unjust discrimination. I'd like to help you but the Constitution doesn't give me that power. You'll have to take it up with your state governors."

To big business: "You are subject to unfair and confiscatory taxation. I'll eliminate these taxes so that you can enjoy the fruits of your labor."

To Khrushchev: "All right, see, we're taking over Cuba, see. We're the big boys on this block now, see. Don't try any funny business or we'll blow your block off."

An election under such conditions would be a farce. Goldwater would carry the lunatic fringe in California and the white South, but the big cities and the urban-industrial states would swing in for another four years of President Kennedy.

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY OWES TO ITSELF AND TO a nation with a strong two-party heritage to nominate a sane, responsible, modern candidate in '64. One of the best features of the U.S. political system is that it generally runs a middle course, rejecting extremes either to the right or to the left. It was this system of moderation which the founding fathers had in mind when they formulated the Constitution bj.

More For the Money

The cost of living is on the rise.

Everybody is feeling the pinch.

As evidence of this rising cost, the Board of Regents of Northwest State College saw fit to hike the incidental fee, activity fee, book rental and union fee from $65 to $75 effective Sept. 1.

But don't feel like you're paying a lot of money for nothing. College officials report that this slight increase will enable them to offer you more and improved services.

And your education will still be less expensive at NWMSC than at almost any school of comparable size in the U.S. The college board reported that no other student costs would be increased for the 1963-64 school term and that no increases were foreseen in the near future.

So, don't gripe. Take this slight boost in stride. It takes money to run a college and the administration of Northwest State wants to offer you the finest and most complete services they can at a reasonable price. jg.

Inquiring Photographer

What do you think has been your most embarrassing moment as a teacher? This question was asked by the Inquiring Photographer to a number of the teachers who have returned for summer study. Some couldn't think of any extra good mistakes, and some had so many they couldn't decide which ones to tell us about.

I. Susan Grube, elementary teacher, Lewis Central Community School, Council Bluffs, Ia.

"This past year, I had a small girl in class who was really too young to participate. Everyday, I took the children out to the bus, and helped them on. This particular day, I had to go back to the room, so I told the other children to get on, and I left. Soon one of the children came running to the building to tell me that Debbie had run away, and was dashing down the center line of the highway. Since this was my first year of teaching, I was very embarrassed to think I couldn't control my class any better than to have to chase down the highway to catch a little girl."

II. Victor Buntz, Oregon science teacher.

"I have worked with photography quite a bit, and I don't think anything is much more embarrassing than to have a group all ready and posed, then to snap the shutter, and not have the camera work. I've done this in all ways. I've forgotten to change the flash bulb, remove the slide and connect the flash attachment."

III. Robert McCartney, science teacher from Spring Garden.

City Recreation Program Directed by NWMSC Grad

The Maryville City Recreation program, featuring four leagues, is well into its way of first-round play under the direction of Dale Brown, a 1958 graduate of NWMSC.

Brown, head basketball mentor at King City, has been with the program for eight years, five as its director. Director Brown previously coached at Jamesport and Quitman.

College Aides
Working with Brown as coordinating director of the baseball-softball programs is Jim Sanders, NWMSC student body president and basketball-baseball letterman.

Sanders and Marv Bell serve as head coaches for the baseball leagues and are assisted by Terry Owens, George Redden, and Terry Kremer.

Five Leagues
Included in the Little League program are two leagues, American and National, along with an older age grouping, the Twilight League.

The Maryville Church League is also sponsored by the City Recreation Program. The Northwest Missouri Softball League, a six-team league featuring area clubs, is provided with umpires for all local team home dates by the program.

Director Brown stated, "The program has increased tremendously in the last few years, especially in the last two seasons. We now have approximately 275 boys in the Little League and Twilight League programs, plus about 100 participants in the Church League."

Brown added that with the increased number of players in the various leagues, a full seven-day-a-week scheduling of games is now included. Monday through Saturday is used for the local leagues, with Sunday and Tuesday nights being reserved for N.W. Mo. League play and other local and area non-league contests.

Director Brown also added, "The increased spectator interest is also of value to the community and to the program itself. Providing a program which will provide fan appeal has been one of our big aims and has evidently been accomplished, as shown by the large crowds so far this year."

Cat Tales...

— with Marv Bell

One month ago, Missourians were quiet enthusiastic over the successes of their two major league representatives, the St. Louis Cardinals and the Kansas City Athletics.

Now they are even more enthusiastic over the high flying Cards but are somewhat disturbed at the sudden fall of the A's into the second division. Several reasons are apparent for both club's performances.

Manager Johnny Keane fields the most feared offensive attack in the National League, boasting four men in the top 10 average hitters in the N.L., plus hitting power at every position. Dick Groat, Bill White, and Ken Boyer have a shot at the batting crown, while Charlie James, George Altman, and Tim McCarver are all over .300.

Carl Sawatski and Julian Javier both are capable swatters. Needless to say, ageless Stan Musial still is one of the most feared hitters in the league and has shown early power while swinging at a .270 clip.

Curt Simons and Ernie Broglio head up the mound corps, followed by Bob Gibson, Ron Taylor, Ray Sadecki, Diomedes Olivo, Bobby Shantz, and Ed Bauta. Obtaining Lew Burdette from Milwaukee certainly looks favorable for the long pennant stretch.

A's Falter
As we predicted earlier in the year, K.C. jumped well into first division, then dropped with their annual crash to the lower realms of the American League.

The failure of such former .300 hitters as Norm Siebern, Jerry Lumpe, and Manny Jimenez to produce cost the A's somewhat, but not nearly as much as a lack of sufficient pitching depth will from now until season's end.

A definite weakness in the outfield, other than Gino Cimoli, is another costly faltering on the A's part. Moving Siebern back to leftfield is not going to remedy the situation defensively.

Contrasting Finishes
The Cardinals have a fair chance of taking the pennant this year, without injuries or slumps to key men, but the A's are destined for another finish in second division.
